JILL M. TRITT

ATTORNEY, CPA

"Instead of leaving your loved ones uncertainty, leave them your plan."

Jill Tritt has lived in Sycamore for four years, and recently established her independent legal and accounting practice at her home office in Sycamore. Her dual licenses as attorney and CPA allow Jill to offer clients more sophisticated advice about taxation, estate planning, business formation and succession, and probate administration. Jill has been practicing law for 10 years, and preparing tax returns and representing taxpayers before the IRS for 12 years.

Jill's commitment to client service in DeKalb County has made her a valuable advisor to her loyal clients. Jill also continues to assist her former law firm, Chuhak & Tecson, P.C. in Chicago by acting as local counsel for their cases in DeKalb County.

Jill's services go beyond legal and accounting assistance. She currently is involved in the DeKalb Leadership Academy, serves on the Board of Directors for the DeKalb Chamber of Commerce and the Kishwaukee College Foundation, and is a math tutor for the Kishwaukee College Literacy Program.

As Jill explains it, Estate Planning is not death planning, but rather it is LIFETIME planning. It's implemented during life, and it has importance during life.

"We all deserve the peace of mind that comes with being proactive."
